St. Clair Oil Company
Gets Big Concessions
From Soviet Government

Moscow, Jan. 27.—The St. Clair Oil Corporation has obtained from the Soviet government a 35-year concession to an oil tract a thousand verstes square on the island of Sakhalin in the North Pacific Ocean, it was announced today.

Two of a number of conditions of the remarkable contract was that the United States shall not commit any hostile acts against Russia and that recognition of the Soviet comes within five years.

Oil, gas and shale abound on Sakhalin, whose 15,000 square miles of wealthy soil lies east of Siberia. The St. Clair Company by terms of the contract is entitled to select two spots on the island for harbors, these to remain under control and the property of the Russian government.

The company agrees to spend 400,000 gold rubles in the first five years.

Of Stills Exploding

CUSTOMS BARRIER ABOUT RUHR VALLEY
IS COMPLETE; TAXES MUST NOW BE PAID
ON EVERYTHING THAT GOES TO OUTSIDE

Essen Jan. 27.—Custom offices established between the Ruhr valley and the rest of Germany were put into operation today by the French Army of Occupation.

Reports reaching Essen stated the barrier was practically completed. Germany now being required to pay to the invaders taxes upon products of the Ruhr shipped to destinations other than the French Reparation Collector.

The situation in the entire occupied region was one of critical suspense; martial law was in effect at Treves and a virtual state of siege was reported to exist in Dusseldorf and Coblenz.

Saturday brought another pay-day for the Westphalian miners and more danger of a clash between French troops and workers.

Paris, Jan. 27.—Many cities of the Ruhr were under virtual martial law today and the situation in the occupied region still was tense, with possibility of trouble.

More troops were reported marching toward the newly occupied area to strengthen the customs barrier. The populace at Dusseldorf was in an angry mood following banishment of ten city officials and their families and the charge of Colonial Troops in which several German were injured. A state of siege was proclaimed.

Factories along the Rhine were reported closing down because of German passive sabotage. Preventing coal movements to French sources, while the invaders checked all shipments of coal to the German interior.

The German Government urged further economy, stating only forty days supply was available and train service was curtailed.

The mark went all to pieces, tumbling to nearly 24,000 to the pound sterling and to nearly 30,000 to the dollar.

Approximately 1,650,000 passenger cars will pass their sixth year of service some time during the next twelve months, and under normal economic conditions must be replaced. This represents the largest replacement market which has been available since the establishment of the automotive industry.

About 800,000 cars will be required for what we may term "new owners." This, estimated requirement will, of course, be modified by existing industrial and agricultural conditions. It is estimated that 75,000 cars will go into the export trade. Adding these together, we find a demand for approximately 2,525,000 passenger cars.

In the commercial car field, the percentage of trucks needed for replacement is not quite so large as in the passenger car field. Approximately 125,000 commercial cars will be replaced during the coming twelve months, if business conditions continue on a fairly even keel. A demand for 135,000 trucks for new owners is anticipated. About 15,000 trucks will be sufficient for the export trade. This brings the total estimated requirements for 1923 to 2,750,000 commercial cars, making a total of 2,800,000 passenger cars and trucks, or an increase of about 10 per cent. over last year's production.

Small Cars Continue to Predominate. Of the estimated output of 2,525,000 passenger cars for 1923, Ford may be counted upon to turn out at least 1,150,000. The General Motors units should collectively build about 460,000 passenger cars. A selected group of other leaders, consisting of Durant, Dodge, Studebaker, Overland, Maxwell, Hudson, Essex, and Nash, should collectively turn out 725,000. This would leave a total production of approximately 190,000 for all other manufacturers of passenger cars in business.

It is expected that of the cars built in 1923, 34 per cent. will sell for less than $500, 33 per cent. will be in the $500 to $1,000 class, 19 per cent. in the $1,000 to $1,500, 7 per cent. in the $1,500 to $2,000 class, 3 per cent. in the $2,000 to $2,500 class, and 4 per cent. in the class selling above $2,500.

Of the estimated output of 2,750,000 commercial cars for 1923, Ford will produce about 125,000. General Motors should turn out about 15,000. A group of leading truck companies, consisting of Dodge, White, Reo, International, Harvestor, Republic, Mack, Packard and Autocar, should collectively build about 75,000. This leaves a total production of only about 60,000 for all other truck makers.

40,000 Car and Truck Dealers. There are now 40,889 automobile and motor truck dealers in the United States. Of these, 2,485 are in cities with populations between 100,000 and 500,000, 8,132 are in cities with populations between 10,000 and 100,000 while 26,371, or more than half the total are in small towns having a population of less than 10,000.

These figures do not include supply stores, garages, etc., of which there are over 40,000, making a total of more than 80,000 sales and service units devoted to the automobile.

Latest complete registration figures also serve to emphasize the growing importance of the small car market for automotive products.

An estimated increase of ten per cent in sales for 1923 over the best previous year in history should enable both dealer and maker to become more optimistic.

FORD IN THE LEAD

In 1923, according to the February issue of the Automobile Trade Journal, the automotive market can safely absorb ten per cent more motor vehicles than were sold last year, when 2,550,000 cars and trucks were produced.

Other conditions remaining satisfactory, this promises to be the most successful year, for both maker and dealer, in the entire history of the automobile business.

Approximately 1,650,000 passenger cars will pass their sixth year of service some time during the next twelve months, and under normal economic conditions must be replaced. This represents the largest replacement market which has been available since the establishment of the automotive industry.

FIGHT IN CLEARFIELD COUNTY AGAINST
TUBERCULOSIS AS MATTER OF INTEREST IS SHOWN BY ATTENDANCE AT MEETING

Practically Every Section of This County Is Represented By Those Who Administer the Funds Raised By Sale of Christmas Seals

OFFICERS ARE ELECTED FOR THIS YEAR

The annual meeting of the Clearfield County Tuberculosis Association which was held at The Dimeling hotel yesterday was attended by about fifty representatives of the association from different sections of the county.

The executive and nominating committees met at 12 o'clock and put the finishing touches upon their reports which were made when the meeting was called to order following the luncheon at 1:30 o'clock.

Prof. W. P. Trostle, president of organization, presided at the meeting and opened the business session by commenting those present on the success of their work during the past year, after which he called for report from the different committees.

On account of the recent indisposition of Treasurer James Mitchell, his report was not available, the president announcing the balance remaining in the treasury.

Mrs. Richard Gilbert, chairman of the executive board, reported at length on the activities of the board and told of the visit paid by herself and Misses Lindgren and Withers to the schools in seven immediately adjoining towns, where talks were given to the children by Mrs. Gilbert while the nurses named made examination of the throats of the pupils.

According to Mrs. Gilbert's report, the Christmas Seal sale in the county netted $2,879.98, an increase of more than fifty per cent. over 1921. Mrs. Gilbert said that through the generosity of Merchant Geo. H. Thurston they were able at Thanksgiving and Christmas to supply 10 baskets of food stuffs to forty-five poor families in their district.

Dr. J. Paul Frantz, chairman of the budget committee, who was absent from town, presented the report of his committee in writing together with the 1923 budget, which report was read by Miss Lindgren. Dr. Frantz offered some valuable suggestions, stating that heretofore they had been "spending too much for relief and not enough for education," the recent Harrisburg convention deciding that this should be reversed. The budget which was agreed upon follows:—

Rent for Dispensary $240.00
Educational work, including donation to milk furnished to undernourished school children 600.00
Material Relief, milk, clothing, food, etc. 700.00
Conferences 150.00
Printing, Postage, Telephone and Telegrams 100.00
Seal Sale Supplies 150.00
Emergency 100.00
Auto Fund 200.00

Total $2,240.00

Miss Margaret Hile, of Curwensville, one of the delegates to the recent Harrisburg convention, gave a highly interesting and exhaustive report of that meeting and offered many valuable suggestions as the result of knowledge gained at the meeting. It was a highly creditable report. Miss Stella Anstead, the other delegate touched on some of the happenings at the State meet not mentioned in Miss Hile's remarks.

In her remarks Miss Hile advocated a "Health Day" for Clearfield county schools. The suggestion was very well received and will undoubtedly be adopted.

Miss Robinson, of Harrisburg, a state field secretary, was then introduced and addressed the meeting at length. She complimented the organization on its aggressiveness and good work and offered many helpful suggestions for the future and said the state organization was instituting a campaign looking to the "preventing of disease by keeping well people well," and advocated that no milk or other relief be afforded any one unless he or she was willing to co-operate by reporting at the dispensary for observation and checking up.

Mrs. Geo. S. Ettla and Mrs. Philip Reddell, of this section and of fered the observations in support of this plan. Mrs. Reddell also favored children's entertainments as an aid to the educational campaign and offered her assistance to the different district organizations in the way of supplying playlets, songs, etc.

The nominating committee then presented its report and the following officers were elected for the coming year:—

President, Professor Trostle.
Vice president, Dr. J. Paul Frantz.
Secretary, Miss Stella Anstead.
Treasurer, Jas. Mitchell, Jr.

Members of Executive Committee: One year—Margaret Hile, Curwensville; Clara Good, Osoola; Mrs. Robt. Sommerville, Winburne. Two years—Mrs. George Reed, Clearfield; G. A. Stewart, Clearfield; Rev. M. BOY VICTIM OF ARKANSAS MOB TELLS HIS STORY

Little Rock, Ark., Jan. 27.—Wounds of a boy victim of the mob, which recently governed Arkansas, lynching B. C. Gregor and flogging other railroad strikers, were exhibited last night to the State Legislative committee probing the vigilantes' raid.

"I was whipped by nine men, each striking me twice with a heavy lash after they had bound me to a post," Dewey Webb, aged 18, declared as he exhibited his body, striped with red welts. "A heavy piece of barbed wire was wrapped around my head and fastened to a post. One of the men wore a black mask but I knew his voice."

Webb named three members of the mob and declared he was deported because he would not tell the committee the leader of depredations on railroad property. "I had to live two days in the woods."

Any persons who have saved seed from last season's immune seed are at liberty to plant same at any convenient time. Persons who do not have seed for the coming season and wish to plant potatoes will be obliged to go to their designated local dealer and place their order on or before March 15th, 1923, at which all orders will be compiled and the seed will be sent to the local dealers. Do not wait until time for planting potatoes for we have had experience in previous years that all the potatoes had been sold and the people were compelled to scratch potatoes off their garden list for that season. All of this seed is guaranteed to be immune to the potato wart disease and has been grown under the supervision of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture. The potatoes will come to the planter in one and two bushel sealed bags, as soon as you get your bag open it and spread your potatoes out so that they do not sweat and rot. There will be no restrictions upon the digging the grower will be free to dig when he sees fit.

A very thorough inspection for potatoes other than the Spaulding Rose will start in June of this year. For any additional information write to H. L. Roberts, Potato Wart Quarantine Office, Room 203, Cambria Trust Bldg., Ebensburg, Pa.

TO AID DISABLED VETERANS

Mrs. C. R. Edwards, Boston, Wife of Major General, Helps Unfortunate Men Help Themselves.

Helping the disabled war veteran to help himself is the hobby of Mrs. Clarence R. Edwards, wife of Major General Edwards, who commanded the Twenty-sixth division in France, and a prominent member of the American Legion auxiliary. One of Mrs. Edwards' most important achievements has been the founding of an exchange in Boston where disabled veterans may sell the products they manufacture during the long days spent in hospitals recovering from war wounds and disabilities.

Starting April 10 with a capital of $2,000 contributed by friends, Mrs. Edwards hired an ex-service man as manager and opened the exchange in a downtown location. Success attended the venture from the start and it has put thousands of dollars in the pockets of needy World War heroes.

The exchange takes all articles on consignment and when they are sold the money is forwarded to the hospital or to the individual patient at the end of the month.

The disabled men have exhibited an unusual versatility in the articles produced for sale, according to Mrs. Edwards. "One boy makes little canoes and paints them in pretty colors," Mrs. Edwards stated. "In one month we have sold $75 worth of canoes ranging in price from 85 cents to $1.50. String belts, girdles and curtain pulls are very popular. A very good market has been developed for a veteran who makes hand-woven homespun. Jute rugs for piazzas and woven rugs for bathrooms are also favorites. All kinds of hammered jewelry and leather covers and cases are good sellers."

Mrs. Edwards' exchange has been authorized by the national convention of the American Legion auxiliary to sell articles made by veterans in hospitals of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Pennsylvania and the District of Columbia.

HE IS VETERAN OF TWO WARS

Wisconsin Legion Man, Now National Vice Commander, Was in Spanish-American and World Wars.

Dr. Edward J. Barrett of Sheboygan, Wis., national vice commander of the American Legion, is a veteran of both the Spanish-American and World wars.

Born in Wooster, O., Doctor Barrett was graduated from the University of Wooster and later from the school of medicine at the University of Cincinnati. He served as house physician at the Palmer House in Chicago until the outbreak of the Spanish-American war, when he was commissioned a major in the Second regiment, United States volunteers, remaining with that organization during its stay in Honolulu.

During the Philippine insurrection, Doctor Barrett was assistant surgeon of the Forty-first volunteer infantry, remaining in the islands until 1901. Thousands of wounded American doughboys remember the work of Doctor Barrett when he was in command of Fox Hills hospital at Stuten Island, and later when he was chief of hospitals at the port of embarkation at Hoboken, N. J., during the World war.

Doctor Barrett commanded the Legion post at Sheboygan in 1920 and served as commander of the Wisconsin department and national executive committee in 1921-1922, in addition to his work as a member of the Legion's national rehabilitation committee.

Case for an Expert.

Mr. Swivel was much perturbed to find that the three pounds of meat which he had purchased for dinner had mysteriously disappeared. His wife, aiding in the search and noting what she took to be a guilty look on the face of the family cat, pointed to it, and said:

"There's the meat."

"Why, no," objected Swivel, "that little thing couldn't get away with three pounds of meat. Still, let's weigh her and find out."

They did so. The scales registered an even three pounds.

"Yes," he admitted in puzzled tones, "there's the meat all right but where's the cat?"—American Legion Weekly.

LESSON FOR JANUARY 28

THE RICH MAN AND LAZARUS

LESSON TEXT—Luke 16:19-31. GOLDEN TEXT—Charge them that are rich in this world, that they be not high-minded, nor trust in uncertain riches, but in the living God, who giveth us richly all things to enjoy.—1 Tim. 6:17.

REFERENCE MATERIAL—Psalm 49:20, 11 Cor. 8:1-9; 1 Tim. 6:17-19.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Story of a Rich Man and a Beggar.

JUNIOR TOPIC—The Poor Rich Man and the Rich Poor Man.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Penalties of Selfishness.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Right Use of Wealth.

In this lesson we are afforded a peep into two worlds where we see disclosed extremes of character and conditions. No more graphic picture could be drawn showing the contrast of two lives. These lives were intended to be representative. The rich man descended from the highest pinnacle of worldly enjoyment to the depths of endless misery. The poor beggar ascends from utter wretchedness and misery to the loftiest heights of blessing.

I. Contrasted Lives (vv. 19-21).

1. The Rich Man (v. 19). He lived in a mansion secluded from the common people. He was clothed in costly raiment; his outer garments were of purple and his inner garments of fine linen. He fed upon the richest food that could be provided. His sin was to selfishly indulge his appetites without consideration for others.

2. The Beggar (vv. 20, 21). He was laid at the rich man's gate with the hope of getting at least the crumbs from his table. The dogs of the street were more kind to him than the rich man. Lazarus means "God is a help," indicating that a godly life shone through his poverty. We learn from these contrasted lives that worldly condition is no sure test of a man's state in the sight of God. Rich men are not all wicked or selfish, and not all poor men are godly.

II. Contrasted Deaths and Funerals (v. 22).

1. The Beggar. He was found dead and his body hurried off to a pauper's grave. No notice was taken of it by the world.

2. The Rich Man. He also died. His gold could not bribe the messenger of death. Doubtless a costly funeral was held, attended by those who moved in his class of society. Death is the common end to which all classes must come.

III. Contrasted Destinies (v. 23).

1. The Beggar. He was at once carried by the angels into Abraham's bosom. The souls of believers are especially cared for at the hour of death.

2. The Rich Man. Though he had an elaborate funeral he lifted up his eyes in hell, being in torment. When the veil of futurity is lifted we see that the positions of these men are reversed. The poor man was in the company of just men made perfect, because of his godly life while on earth, and the rich man is stripped of his purple and fine linen and cast into hell with all wicked men, because while on earth he only lived for selfish ends.

IV. The Reality and Fixedness of Life Beyond the Grave (vv. 24-31).

1. The Cry for Mercy (v. 24). Dives, which is the Latin name for "rich man," was now willing to claim relationship to Abraham. He was keenly conscious, and the appetites which controlled him while on earth were still with him. Instead of a means of gratification they were now an instrument of torture. Part of the torment of hell will be the cravings of appetite and lust, with no means of their gratification.

2. Abraham's Reply (v. 25). This reply cast the matter back upon the man's memory. He said, "Son, remember." The lashings of a guilty conscience will be most real in hell.

3. Their Fixedness (v. 26). Human destinies are fixed by the choices during the life. When one passes out of this life he enters into an unchangeable state and condition.

4. God's Word and the All-Sufficient Light (vv. 27-31). Dives now requested that Lazarus go on an errand of mercy to his brethren. He regarded the testimony of a spirit of more value than the Word of God. Many today are more willing to trust the ravings of a ghost than the sure Word of God. Abraham declared that God's Word is sufficient—that those who reject Moses and the prophets would not repeat though visited by one who had risen from the dead. The greatest miracles will not affect the hearts of men who reject the Bible.

Development.

Development seems to be the method by which God works, and development is change—change which, by no means, involves imperfection; and this for the reason that laws, which obtain in the realm of the finite, may, or may not, obtain in the realm of the infinite.—Rt. Rev. N. S. Thomas, D. D.

We have often heard that politics make queer bedfellows and have seen some object lessons in this sage saying, but it remained for The Raftsmen's Journal to indicate that politics had anything to do with making bedbugs the bedfellows of all the bootleggers and other malefactors incarcerated at the county jail.

Brushing aside the allegations that the county jail reeks with filth and was overrun with vermin of all kinds The Journal makes the statement that the charges made against the administration of the county affairs, so far as the jail is concerned, are "political."

Referring again to "bugology," The Journal terms Reverend Hatch a "fly up the creek" and then slaps on the wrist the newspaper which dared to print Rev. Hatch's remarks. It ends its tirade by weeping over the terrible calamity to be visited on the Republican party by reason of the allegations and the publicity given them in belated editions of a Democratic newspaper.

Well, Brother McQuown, if the Republican party is not virtuous enough to stand a little criticism, let 'er topple. For our part, we have faith enough in it to let it be the target for all kinds of projectiles, and confidence in its being big enough to weather any storm. If the Republican party is so weak a structure that we have to hide its deficiencies, or the shortcomings of officers elected on that ticket, by suppressing news, we better do what Mr. Penrose did in 1912—ditch her and start to build over.

Enough of this. Rev. Hatch is a newcomer here. He didn't know whether we were Republicans, Democrats or Mugwumps, though we'll admit it looks now as though we were a bunch of Know-Nothings in a literal sense.

Let the Grand Jury investigation be most thorough and, if the Republican party suffers through having put in office men who were not fitted to hold office, the quicker the Republican party finds it out the better off it will be.

We are gratified to see so much interest taken by the workers of the Tuberculosis Society of Clearfield County. When we realize that all of those who attended the annual meeting of the society yesterday did so out of a desire to serve their fellow men in such a manner that they might not suffer from the dreaded white plague, we must further realize that there is a considerable amount of brotherly love. All of these people gave of their time yesterday in order to advance this work, not only did they give of their time yesterday, but the greater number of them having been giving freely of their time throughout the whole year.

These people are the ones who administer the little fund that is raised in the county each year by the sale of the Christmas Seals and their interest in the work and our knowledge of the sacrifices they make to carry on the work, ought to result in an even greater sale of these wonderful little seals when the next opportunity presents itself. It is too early now to think about that time but let us try to remember about yesterday's outpouring of workers when next December rolls around.

Clearfield High took another game last night and have an even chance of staying on top of the heap. Not many people were willing to make a wager yesterday that the boys would bring home a victory, but this afternoon they will get off the B. R. & P. train wreathed in great big smiles. Let us smile with them, for they sure are keeping Clearfield on the map, these high school boys, and let us resolve now to cheer them to victory in the league games this season. These boys have the right stuff in them and deserve our support.

PERSONAL SERVICE

The old time idea of a bank as a chilly place for all but the wealthy, is a thing of the past.

The modern bank is a place where the business of the modest depositor is welcomed; where the officers are easily accessible at all times.

Dignity of Business

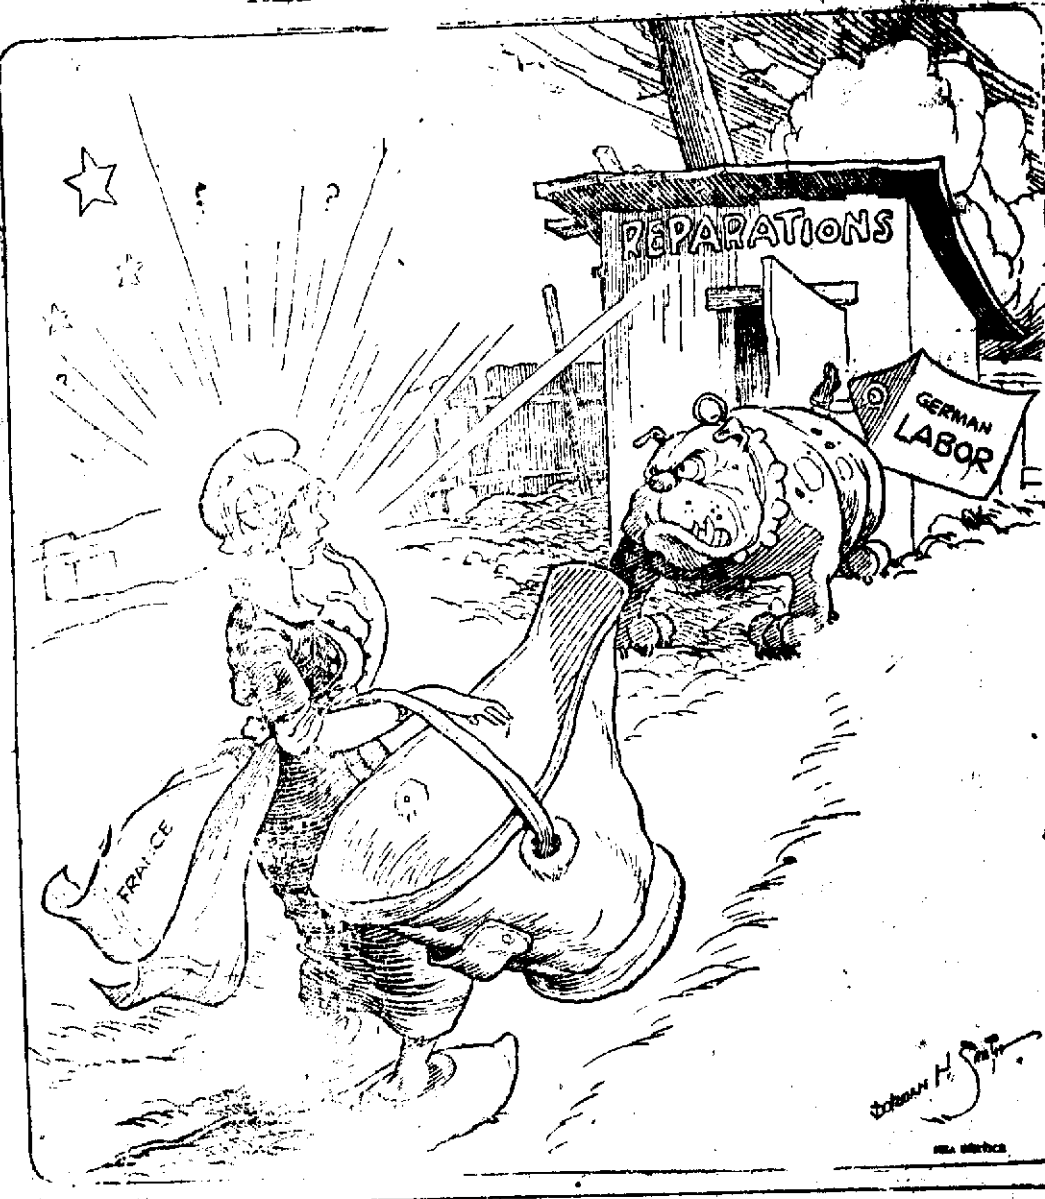

It is an utterly low view of business which regards it as only a means of getting a living. A man's business is his part of the world's work, his share of the great activities which render society possible. He may like it or dislike it, but it is work, and as such, requires application, self-discipline, and skill. He who takes a low view of business is a man who is not fit to do it.

The Sturdy Six of Long Life

Why the Jewett Is a Good Investment

Some folks think only of looks when they buy a car. Thousands have bought this Jewett on looks alone. But there are things to know about the Jewett which will make you prefer it to all others. Ever notice how comfortably the Jewett rides? You are surprised at such easy action in this size car. It comes from extra long springs and the extra weight of rugged construction. If you are wise you can't be fooled on rugged construction. You can feel it—or the lack of it—by the way a car rides. The trembling, bouncy car is flimsy. The steady, comfortable car is substantial. Do we need to tell you which car is a good investment? You can feel the Jewett's long life in the way it rides. Will its power endure—remain smooth and quiet? A very important question. A short-lived motor makes any car a poor investment. How can you tell whether a motor will keep its power and smoothness? You don't need to be an engineer. With your ear and just one simple fact you can tell the answer.

Speed up the motor. Listen! Is it quiet? A noisy motor is poorly designed for long wear. And the one fact you need to make sure of is a high-pressure oiling system.

Jewett's high-pressure oiling system sends three gallons of oil per minute through all main and connecting rod bearings at 20 to 40 pounds pressure. It constantly bathes the entire mechanism in oil. Friction is reduced to nil. No chance for such a motor to wear out for years. Yes, you can prove the Jewett is a good investment.

Crisis Near In Church As Climax To Dr. Grant's Stormy Ministry

BY ALEXANDER HERMAN
NEA Service Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—What is ahead in religion?

A militant ministry patterned after the spectacular and revolutionary leadership of Dr. Percy Stickney Grant?

Or must this meteor among preachers stand trial for heresy—for his declaration that Christ did not have the power of God?

These questions grow enormously in interest as the religious world awaits to see whether Dr. Grant recants, resigns or is tried according to his Episcopal bishop's ultimatum.

Dr. Grant has held the center of the spotlight through a tempestuous career—fighting church doctrines, and fighting a personal fight to marry Mrs. Rita H. deAlba deAcosta Lydig, twice married and twice divorced. He is noted for radical sermons; and he is the author of poems and essays, of such books as "Socialism and Christianity," and "Fair Play for the Worker."

His notable book of poems, "A Fifth Avenue Parade and Other Poems," published last year by Harper & Bros., had this dedication: "To Rita H. deAlba deAcosta, an ambitious and stimulating intelligence gifted with a knowledge of the beautiful, a Tanagra figure come to life, a captivating companion."

The sequel to these chapters of his life remain to be written:

CHAPTER I
PERCY STICKNEY GRANT was 26 years old when he graduated in 1886 from the Episcopal Theological School in Boston, his home. Assigned to Fall River his ideas about the church were somewhat different from those of the vestry. But his social service work attracted attention and he earned a call to the

DR. GRANT ON LIBERALISM

Following is an excerpt from Dr. Percy Stickney Grant's poem, "The Radical," from his book, "A Fifth Avenue Parade and Other Poems," published last year by Harper & Bros.

I stand for the man
Who is sick of this piffle
About God
From ministers and millionaires,
Who seem to own God,
He treats them so well.
I feel better for the blows I receive
As the friend of undesirable citizens.
My revolt is a little of the revolt in them.
My insults are a part of the blows they receive.
If I do not explode
With as much love and hate as they do,
I can at least suffer a little on their account.

CHAPTER IV

TALK came of putting him on trial in an ecclesiastical court for celebrating communion improperly, for permitting laymen to speak at religious services, and for performing the marriage of a guilty divorcee. But the case was dropped—with a rebuke and a warning for Dr. Grant.

Now came the time when he was to fight a personal fight—and lose.

CHAPTER V

MRS. RITA H. deALBA deACOSTA LYDIG, called "America's most picturesque woman," long a friend of Dr. Grant, announced her engagement to him in 1921. She was 42, he was 61. She had been twice married and twice divorced; first W. E. D. Stokes, next Philip M. Lydig.

Under Episcopal Church rules Dr. Grant could not marry Mrs. Lydig without the bishop's permission. Bishop William T. Manning refused permission.

Incensed, Dr. Grant attacked

THE REV. PERCY STICKNEY GRANT AND MRS. RITA H. deALBA deACOSTA LYDIG.

ed the church's attitude on household, established a nursery, hired a nurse, and announced he would raise the divorce canon.

CHAPTER VI

PUBLICITY spotlighted now was Mrs. Lydig. Soon the baby became ill. She cried at night. A baby girl was found on his doorstep, abandoned. He took it into his bachelor

DR. GRANT ON LOVE

Dr. Percy Stickney Grant's poem "The Lover," which follows, is from his book "A Fifth Avenue Parade and Other Poems," published last year by Harper & Bros.

THE LOVER

I love her body and her soul,
But I must choose.
Alas! her heart, it is kind,
So sweet her body, pure her mind,
I would not lose
A petal of the perfect whole.

Her gentle spirit wounds her flesh,
She feeleth woe
So keenly. Sorrow, pain and sin
Gaze at her all bright within
And grieve her so.
Tears mar the body's golden mesh.

Her face is fair as temple gates,
I linger there
And look and love, then reverently
Pass in, the fairer soul to see;
Nor may compare
The door to what within awaits.

For there are angel choirs heard
And heaven's appeal.
There jeweled windows, mystic light,
Reveal their beauty and the light;
So there I kneel
Me down and—worship—is the word.

CHAPTER VII

WITH 1923 came the explosion. Dr. Grant said, in a sermon January 14th that Jesus Christ did not possess equal power with God; that His miracles can be explained today by science; that consecration of churches is a custom inherited from the age of witchcraft, magic and taboo; that the clergy is a suppressed, chained profession, whose minds must speak their minds outside the pulpit, never in it.

Bishop Manning served an ultimatum that he must recant or resign, and hinting at a trial for heresy.

Dr. Grant has neither resigned nor recanted.

He had been advocating easy divorce since 1915.

FRANKLIN HAS RECORD
NUMBER OF UNFULFILLED
ORDERS FOR JANUARY
Selling Orders 45% of Total—New Body Styles and New Motor Boost Sales

Syracuse, N. Y.—The number of unfilled retail orders on the books of the Franklin Automobile Company on January 17 was eight times the number recorded on the corresponding date in 1922, according to S. E. Ackerman, Sales Manager. "Never before at this time of year," states Mr. Ackerman, "have we had so many unfilled customers' orders. This unprecedented demand is, we feel, recognition on the part of the public of the exceptional performance qualities of the new Franklin motor introduced in September last. The new Franklin body styles, first exhibited at the New York show, have been largely instrumental, too, in stimulating Franklin sales to their present high mark.

"Although the call for cars is spread over all the seven types we are now building, the demand for sedans overshadows all other types, 45% of our unfilled orders specifying sedans."

WILLIAM COURTENAY IN "HER TEMPORARY HUSBAND"

William Courtenay in "Her Temporary Husband," a three-act farce comedy, will be the attraction at the Driggs Theatre on Wednesday evening, Jan. 31st. Edward A. Paulton is the author of this farce and H. H. Lydig.

liked this laughing play and it recently finished a stay of several months at the Frazee Theatre in New York. In Mr. Courtenay's support are a number of well known players, including George Parsons, Virginia Hammond, Henry Mortimer, Jack Paulton and Betty Linley. "Her Temporary Husband" was built for laugh-making purposes and it fulfills its destiny admirably. The story is woven around a young heiress whose father left his fortune to her, provided she did not marry a suitor whom the father disliked. The girl wanted to marry the man her father forbade her to wed and the suitor wanted to marry her provided her fortune came with her. The fathers' will was the only hindrance.

Some way had to be found to get both the girl and her money and the suitor conceived the idea of finding a temporary husband for the heiress, a husband old and ailing, who would soon pass away leaving a wealthy widow for the money-seeking suitor to marry. The heiress agreed to the plan and they found the sort of a temporary husband desired, in a sanitarium.

Thither the pair were followed by an unknown admirer of the girl, who, on learning of the plan to acquire a temporary husband, wheedled the doctor in charge of the sanitarium and his friendly staff into allowing him to impersonate the old man who had been picked as a bridegroom. The marriage took place and, much to the surprise of the pair who planned it, the supposed senile bridegroom showed surprising vitality. How this old-young man won the love of his wife and routed the selfish suitor makes good, clean fun.

BOXING PROMOTER SIGNS UP

He is staging a big boxing match in DuBois on Feb. 8th and will give a big show in Clearfield on Feb. 12th.

Promoter O'Leary promises high-class cards at both shows, which will prove welcome news to local fans.

PREPARE FOR SKATING

After many hopes, fears and disappointments, it begins to look as if there would really be a skating rink—that is, if the party of the second part live up to their share of the plan as well as the first. About four o'clock Friday afternoon the loiterers on the Market street bridge saw what at first looked like a wild mob, but on inspection it turned out to be a disciplined squad cleaning a good slice of the ice. Minus the heavy lookers-on, about sixty boys from both High Schools under the generalship of Mr. Kopp and a small corps of professors did the work. Something new in snow plows was in operation, made in the afternoon at the Graham mill is just the everyday thing to expect of the combined plans of the interested ones. About twenty boys, more or less, rode the contrivance, holding it down to the wet snow which had been too well tramped into the ice, while the rest of the army tugged on the long ropes hitched to each side. It was the real kind of hard work, so when all the pep then present was pretty well used up, all were marshaled into the domestic science kitchen where four G. U. Scouts had answered the hurry call and prepared coffee and hot-dogs. This prompt and capable quartet, Pauline Fleck, Donna Mitchell, Edith Shaw and Charlotte Zurfoss, were gathered up at the last minute and given the training stunt to accomplish because that is just the everyday thing to expect of the combined plans of the interest-

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

Now that the movement is started looking to the restoration of the Pennsylvania road as a State road it might not be out of place to look back to the opening of this road away back thirty years ago and compare road building prices then with those of the present time. A. B. Reed, in going over an old ledger the property of his father the late G. L. Reed found an entry which covered the building of the first mile of the present Pennsylvania road, which was built up Moose Creek to connect with the old Sinnemahoning road at the top of the mountain.

The entry noted an agreement with Charles McCumber "to make a mile of road to Sinnemahoning at $162.50 per rod." McCumber, the road builder, then lived where A. M. Woodward's bungalow stands near the old Len Oxden place.

This contract was let in 1887 and the book shows donations to the cause under dates of Jan. 20 to Oct. 9 of that year of $75 by G. L. Reed and A. K. Wright contributed $35 during the same period. During April, July and September of 1886 G. L. Reed contributed $35; A. K. Wright, $40; Jonathan Boynton, $10 and Reed and Weaver, account, $164.11.

Production of automobiles totaled 2,577,220 vehicles during 1922, according to reports just tabulated by the Department of Commerce. This is the largest output of any year in history, the official returns show.

Production of passenger cars was 2,334,171 vehicles. The output of trucks was 243,049.

Output during 1923 will be larger than in the previous year, it is predicted.

The number of automobiles now in operation in the United States is well over 11,000,000 cars, it is indicated, although official and final license reports will not be available for several weeks. A year ago approximately 10,000,000 cars were licensed. The number licensed does not increase in proportion equal to new production. Many cars manufactured and sold during 1922 were licensed to replace cars junked during the year, it is apparent.

The production record of the year shows that the automobile industry stands in the front rank, if not first, among those lines of endeavor which recover quickly from economic depression.

The industry was at low ebb in January when production totaled only 31,693 passenger cars and 9,416 trucks. Output rose rapidly each month thereafter until June, when the peak was reached. In that month the factories turned out 263,027 passenger cars and 2,984 trucks.

The strike of railroad shop workers and the final stages of the miners' strike seem to have forced lowered production in July beyond the normal season decline. This is indicated by the fact that more cars were turned out in August than during July. July production was 224,770 passenger cars and 21,739 trucks, while that of August was 248,118 passenger vehicles and 24,420 trucks.

Human nature sure is a queer bird as all will agree who have taken time to study the fads, foibles or fancies of the genus homo.

It has long been truly said "to them that hath shall be given" and while that is true beyond dispute, after a little experience of ours yesterday we want to add that "them that hath" hangs onto it like grim death to a dead nigger—that being largely the reason why they "hath."

We are moved to deliver ourselves thusly following a little observation of personal survey we made yesterday. This is the how of it. A crippled beggar took his place in front of Ross & Wood's Market street store yesterday morning and sitting on the sidewalk offered lead pencils in exchange for the nickels and dimes of the charitably inclined passers by. Being of a curious turn of mind we sat in our office window for a time and took note of those who responded to the cripple's mute appeal, and to the everlasting credit of the horny-handed son of toil, the men in blouses or proletariat if you will, he or they did the contributing. Hardly a poor devil who passed that way could resist the appeal, almost every last one digging down into his jeans or overalls and dropping his contribution into the cap of the beggar. The women, too, God bless 'em, were also nearly all tender-hearted enough to contribute, in fact the percentage of charitable women far exceeding that of the sterner—and tighter—sex. But the one thing that was surprising and which gave rise to our opening statements was the general refusal of the more prosperous or "white collared" individual paid any heed to the down and outer as they passed him by with head in air and their nicks safely anchored beyond the reach of any heart throb.

It was interesting to watch how he felt of the cripple struck the approaching pedestrian. When the poor man sighted him he began to search his pockets and had his coin in hand yards before he reached the waiting cap. One fellow in overalls searched every pocket as he approached but finding nothing sneaked sheepishly by still searching. He started to cross the street at the alley and was midway across when he found what he was searching for in a hip pocket and retracing his steps, dropped a coin into the cap and again resumed his way with a look of satisfaction on his face.

Truly "them that has gets," and after they "get" they hang to it.

If Kidneys Act Bad Take Salts

Says Backache often means you have been eating too much meat.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it may mean you have been eating too much meat, says a well known authority. An excess of meat may form uric acid, which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood, and they become sort of paralyzed and foggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog, you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels, removing all the body's urinous waste. Else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells, your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scald, and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Little consult a good, reliable physician at once, or get from your pharmacist along four ounces of Jial Salts take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with Lithium and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it is no longer irritating, thus often curing bladder weakness.

Jial Salts is inexpensive can not hurt and makes a delightful effervescent lithic water drink. Drink lots of soft water.

WORTHLESS CHECK
GETS HIM IN TROUBLE

Sandford Lewis was arrested Tuesday afternoon on the charge of having given Gulbranson, of Houtzdale a check in December, which proved to be worthless. The amount was $500. At the hearing it was alleged that Lewis had been urged several times to make the check good, but he stood them off on the plea that he was to sell his property here, and pay all his bills. An investigation revealed the fact that the Sheriff was selling the property to satisfy a mortgage, and the suit was entered for protection. Lewis was held on a thousand dollar bail for his appearance at Court. Wm. Bowser furnished the bond.—Philipsburg Ledger.

NEW LAMP BURNS 94 PER CENT AIR

Beats Electric or Gas

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas, or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 75 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94 per cent. air and 6 per cent. common kerosene (coal oil). The inventor, S. K. Johnson, 642 N. Broad St., Philadelphia, is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

Drapery to the Front

Fashionable gowns now have their fulness caught in front below the waist with a colorful ornament. The fulness held in this fashion falls in the pleats and ripples of the new jabot drapery. Side drapes are still very popular but spring will see the front drapes well established in American fashions.

Secretary Mellon Was Willing To Agree But Congress Disapproved.

SCORES POLITICS

Southampton, Jan. 27.—Stanley Baldwin, chancellor of the Exchequer, stated upon his return here from New York that the greatest difference between Europe and America is the fact that our politicians are handling the payment of the war debt, whereas the politicians were not concerned in the debt contraction.

He stated he believed that Secretary Mellon could have arranged terms with Great Britain for settlement of the debt but that the matter was immensely complicated by having gotten into the hands of Congress.

ALMSHOUSE INMATE KILLED BY FREIGHT TRAIN EARLY TODAY

John Drop, Young Man of Hawk Run, Struck
by Engine and Carried
To Mineral Springs.

AN ODD ACCIDENT

John Drop, aged about 19 years, an inmate of the County Home for some time, met death beneath the wheels of the Pennsylvania local freight which left Clearfield for Woodland about 9 o'clock this morning.

The young man, who was an epileptic, was struck by the train near Leonard station, at the County Home, and dragged or carried along to Mineral Springs, a distance of at least three miles.

When the train stopped at Mineral Spring the man's dead body was discovered by the train crew and after being released was taken on to the Woodland passenger station.

The 10:35 passenger train brought the remains to Clearfield, where identification was made, after which Steward McMullen took charge and had them prepared for burial.

Drop was of Slavish descent and came to the County Home from Hawk Run.

BAVARIA THE SEAT OF REVOLUTION AND MILITARY RULING

Berlin, Jan. 27.—Bavaria was under martial law and a revolution by German Fascists, under General Hitler, Nationalist chieftain, was feared.

The Bavarian government ordered Hitler to withhold his demonstrations planned for today, but the revolutionist defied the authorities and announced the mass meeting would be held either today or Sunday. "Whether the government liked it or not." He is determined to overthrow the present Bavarian leaders and establish Socialistic and Nationalist control.

The Nationalists in Bavaria are aroused here and accused the government with shameful conduct toward the Fascists. Police last night stopped many troops on their way to join the Reichswahr.

St. Clair Oil Company Gets Big Concessions From Soviet Government

Moscow, Jan. 27.—The St. Clair Oil Corporation has obtained from the Soviet government a 35-year concession to an oil tract a thousand square miles on the island of Sakhalin in the North Pacific Ocean, it was announced today.

Two of a number of conditions of the remarkable contract was that the United States shall not commit any hostile acts against Russia and that recognition of the Soviet comes within five years.

Oil, gas and shale abound on Sakhalin, whose 15,000 square miles of wealthy soil lies east of Siberia. The St. Clair Company by terms of the contract is entitled to select two spots on the island for harbors, these to remain under control and the property of the Russian government.

The company agrees to spend 400,000 gold rubles in the first five years.

CUSTOMS BARRIER ABOUT RUHR VALLEY IS COMPLETE; TAXES MUST NOW BE PAID ON EVERYTHING THAT GOES TO OUTSIDE

Reports reaching Essen stated the barrier was practically completed. Germany now being required to pay to the invaders taxes upon products of the Ruhr shipped to destinations other than the French Reparation Collector.

The situation in the entire occupied region was one of critical suspense; martial law was in effect at Treves and a virtual state of siege was reported to exist in Dusseldorf and Coblenz.

Saturday brought another pay-day for the Westphalian miners and more danger of a clash between French troops and workers.

Paris, Jan. 27.—Many cities of the Ruhr were under virtual martial law today and the situation in the occupied region still was tense, with possibility of trouble.

More troops were reported marching toward the newly occupied area to strengthen the customs barrier. The populace at Dusseldorf was in an angry mood following banishment of ten city officials and their families and the charge of Colonial Troops in which several German were injured. A state of siege was proclaimed.

Factories along the Rhine were reported closing down because of German passive sabotage. Preventing coal movements to French sources, while the invaders checked all shipments of coal to the German interior.

The German Government urged further economy, stating only forty days supply was available and train service was curtailed.

The mark went all to pieces, tumbling to nearly 24,000 to the pound sterling and to nearly 30,000 to the dollar.

TEN PER CENT MORE MOTOR CARS NEEDED TO SUPPLY DEMAND

Trade Journal Declares
There Is Need for That
Many More Over Last Year's Production.

FORD IN THE LEAD

In 1923, according to the February issue of the Automobile Trade Journal, the automotive market can safely absorb ten per cent more motor vehicles than were sold last year, when 2,550,000 cars and trucks were produced.

Other conditions remaining satisfactory, this promises to be the most successful year, for both maker and dealer, in the entire history of the automobile business.

Approximately 1,650,000 passenger cars will pass their sixth year of service some time during the next twelve months, and under normal economic conditions must be replaced. This represents the largest replacement market which has been available since the establishment of the automotive industry.

About 800,000 cars will be required for what we may term "new owners." This, estimated requirement will, of course, be modified by existing industrial and agricultural conditions. It is estimated that 75,000 cars will go into the export trade. Adding these together, we find a demand for approximately 2,525,000 passenger cars.

In the commercial car field, the percentage of trucks needed for replacement is not quite so large as in the passenger car field. Approximately 125,000 commercial cars will be replaced during the coming twelve months, if business conditions continue on a fairly even keel. A demand for 135,000 trucks for new owners is anticipated. About 15,000 trucks will be sufficient for the export trade.

This brings the total estimated requirements for 1923 to 2,750,000 commercial cars, making a total of 2,800,000 passenger cars and trucks, or an increase of about 10 per cent. over last year's production.

Small Cars Continue to Predominate. Of the estimated output of 2,525,000 passenger cars for 1923, Ford may be counted upon to turn out at least 1,150,000. The General Motors units should collectively build about 460,000 passenger cars. A selected group of other leaders, consisting of Durant, Dodge, Studebaker, Overland, Maxwell, Hudson, Essex, and Nash, should collectively turn out 725,000. This would leave a total production of approximately 190,000 for all other manufacturers of passenger cars in business.

It is expected that of the cars built in 1923, 34 per cent will sell for less than $500, 33 per cent will be in the $500 to $1,000 class, 19 per cent in the $1,000 to $1,500, 7 per cent in the $1,500 to $2,000 class, 3 per cent in the $2,000 to $2,500 class, and 4 per cent in the class selling above $2,500. Of the estimated output of 2,750,000 commercial cars for 1923, Ford will produce about 125,000. General Motors should turn out about 15,000. A group of leading truck companies, consisting of Dodge, White, Reo, International, Harvester, Republic, Mack, Packard and Autocar, should collectively build about 75,000. This leaves a total production of only about 60,000 for all other truck makers.

40,000 Car and Truck Dealers.

There are now 40,889 automobile and motor truck dealers in the United States. Of these, 2,485 are in cities with populations between 100,000 and 500,000, 3,481 are in cities with populations between 50,000 and 100,000, 8,132 are in cities with populations between 10,000 and 50,000, while 26,371, or more than half the total are in small towns having a population of less than 10,000.

These figures do not include supply stores, garages, etc., of which there are over 40,000, making a total of more than 80,000 sales and service units devoted to the automobile.

Latest complete registration figures also serve to emphasize the growing importance of the small town market for automotive products.

An estimated increase of ten per cent in sales for 1923 over the best previous year in history should enable both dealer and maker to become more prosperous.

FIGHT IN CLEARFIELD COUNTY AGAINST TUBERCULOSIS AS MATTER OF INTEREST IS SHOWN BY ATTENDANCE AT MEETING

Practically Every Section of This County Is Represented By Those Who Administer the Funds Raised By Sale of Christmas Seals

OFFICERS ARE ELECTED FOR THIS YEAR

The annual meeting of the Clearfield County Tuberculosis Association which was held at The Dimeling hotel yesterday was attended by about fifty representatives of the association from different sections of the county. The executive and nominating committees met at 12 o'clock and put the finishing touches upon their reports which were made when the meeting was called to order following the luncheon at 1:30 o'clock.

Prof. W. P. Trostle, president of organization, presided at the meeting and opened the business session by commenting those present on the success of their work during the past year, after which he called for report from the different committees.

On account of the recent indisposition of Treasurer James Mitchell, his report was not available, the president announcing the balance remaining in the treasury.

Mrs. Richard Gilbert, chairman of the executive board, reported at length on the activities of the board and told of the visit paid by herself and Misses Lindgren and Withrow to the schools in seven immediately adjoining towns, where talks were given the children by Mrs. Gilbert while the nurses named made examination of the throats of the pupils.

According to Mrs. Gilbert's report, the Christmas Seal sale in the county netted $2,879.98, an increase of more than fifty per cent. over 1921. Mrs. Gilbert said that through the generosity of Merchant Geo. H. Thurston they were able at Thanksgiving and Christmas to supply 10 baskets of food stuffs to forty-five poor families in their district.

Dr. J. Paul Frantz, chairman of the budget committee, who was absent from town, presented the report of his committee in writing together with the 1923 budget, which report was read by Miss Lindgren. Dr. Frantz offered some valuable suggestions, stating that heretofore they had been "spending too much for relief and not enough for education," the recent Harrisburg convention deciding that this should be reversed. The budget which was agreed upon follows:

Rent for Dispensary	$240.00
Educational work, including donation to milk furnished to undernourished school children	600.00
Material Relief, milk, clothing, food, etc.	700.00
Conferences	150.00
Printing, Postage, Telephone and Telegrams	100.00
Seal Sale Supplies	150.00
Emergency	100.00
Auto Fund	200.00
Total	$2,240.00

Miss Margaret Hile, of Curwensville, one of the delegates to the recent Harrisburg convention, gave a highly interesting and exhaustive report of that meeting and offered many valuable suggestions as the result of knowledge gained at the meeting. It was a highly creditable report. Miss Stella Anstead, the other delegate touched on some of the happenings at the State meet not mentioned in Miss Hile's remarks.

In her remarks Miss Hile advocated a "Health Day" for Clearfield county schools. The suggestion was very well received and will undoubtedly be adopted.

Miss Robinson, of Harrisburg, a state field secretary, was then introduced and addressed the meeting at length. She complimented the organization on its aggressiveness and good work and offered many helpful suggestions for the future and said the state organization was instituting a campaign looking to the "preventing of disease by keeping well people well," and advocated that no milk or other relief be afforded any one unless he or she was willing to co-operate by reporting at the dispensary for observation and checking up.

Mrs. Geo. S. Ettla and Mrs. Philip Reddell, of this section and of ferred the observations in support of this plan. Mrs. Hile also favored children's entertainments as an aid to the educational campaign and offered her assistance to the different district organizations in the way of supplying playlets, songs, etc.

The nominating committee then presented its report and the following officers were elected for the coming year:

President, Professor Trostle.
Vice president, Dr. J. Paul Frantz.
Secretary, Miss Stella Anstead.
Treasurer, Jas. Mitchell, Jr.
Members of Executive Committee: One year—Margaret Hile, Curwensville; Clare Good, Osoola; Mrs. Robt. Sommerville, Winburne. Two years—Mrs. George Reed, Clearfield; G. A. Stewart, Clearfield; Rev. M. A. Ryan, Clearfield. Three years—Mrs. Richard Gilbert, Clearfield; Mrs. Chas. T. Kurtz, Clearfield; A. K. Wright, Clearfield.

HEALTH SITUATION IN THE BOROUGH STILL IMPROVING

Secretary Gaulin's health report for the past seven days shows that but three cases of communicable disease were reported to the Board of Health. Of these two were scarlet fever and the other diphtheria. During the same period the quarantine was lifted on six cases.

There are at present thirteen cases of communicable disease under quarantine in the borough. They are as follows:

- First Ward.—Diphtheria 2.

BOY VICTIM OF ARKANSAS MOB TELLS HIS STORY

Little Rock, Ark., Jan. 27.—Wounds of a boy victim of the mob, which recently governed Arkansas, lynching B. C. Gregor and flogging other railroad strikers, were exhibited last night to the State Legislative committee probing the vigilantes' raid.

"I was whipped by nine men, each striking me twice with a heavy lash after they had bound me to a post," Dewey Webb, aged 18, declared as he exhibited his body, striped with red welts. "A heavy piece of barbed wire was wrapped around my head and fastened to a post. One of the men wore a black mask but I knew his voice."

Webb named three members of the mob and declared he was deported because he would not tell the committee the leader of depredations on railroad property. "I had to live two days in the woods."

Origin of Money.

History does not tell us where the idea of money originated. The precious metals were employed in barter before the dawn of history. In the oldest ruins of civilized people bits of metals are found with an imprint of the ruler. They had banking three thousand years ago, when bits of metal were graven on bricks.

MUST PLANT SPUDS THIS YEAR THAT HAVE A PEDIGREE

Ebensburg, Jan. 25.—Immune varieties of potatoes are those known not to contract the potato wart disease. Spaulding Rose No. 4 is the variety that will be supplied to all the areas under quarantine, Nantyglo, Vintondale, Lilly, Dunlo & Llanfair, Beaverdale & Lloydell, Onondaga Mills & Newton, Smith Mills in Clearfield county, Snow Shoe, Clearance, in Centre county, Robertsdale, Wood in Huntingdon county, Yatesboro, Rural Valley in Armstrong county. A local dealer in each of these towns will handle the immune seed, the dealers being McLaren & Son, Osceola Mills & Newton, Smith Mills in Clearfield county; The Clarence co-operative store for Snow Shoe & Clearance in Centre county; The Miners & Farmers Store in Robertsdale & Wood, Huntingdon county; The Home Store Co., for Yatesboro & Rural Valley. Most persons who have planted this seed in past years say that they have had successful crops and are greatly pleased with the results. Any persons who have saved seed from last season's immune seed are at liberty to plant same at any convenient time. Persons who do not have seed for the coming season and wish to plant potatoes will be obliged to go to their designated local dealer and place their order on or before March 15th, 1923, at which all orders will be completed and the seed will be sent to the local dealers. Do not wait until time for planting potatoes for we have had experience in previous years that all the potatoes had been sold and the people were compelled to scratch potatoes off their garden list for that season. All of this seed is guaranteed to be immune to the potato wart disease and has been grown under the supervision of the Pennsylvania Department of Agriculture. The potatoes will come to the planter in one and two bushel sealed bags, as soon as you get your bag open it and spread your potatoes out so that they do not sweat and rot. There will be no restrictions upon the digging the grower will be free to dig when he sees fit. A very thorough inspection for potatoes other than the Spaulding Rose will start in June of this year. For any additional information write to H. L. Roberts, Potato Wart Quarantine Office, Room 203, Cambria Trust Bldg., Ebensburg, Pa.

TO AID DISABLED VETERANS

Mrs. C. R. Edwards, Boston, Wife of Major General, Helps Unfortunate Men Help Themselves.

Helping the disabled war veteran to help himself is the hobby of Mrs. Clarence R. Edwards, wife of Major General Edwards, who commanded the Twenty-sixth division in France, and a prominent member of the American Legion auxiliary. One of Mrs. Edwards' most important achievements has been the founding of an exchange in Boston where disabled veterans may sell the products they manufacture during the long days spent in hospitals recovering from war wounds and disabilities.

Starting April 10 with a capital of $2,000 contributed by friends, Mrs. Edwards hired an ex-service man as manager and opened the exchange in a downtown location. Success attended the venture from the start and it has put thousands of dollars in the pockets of needy World War heroes.

The exchange takes all articles on consignment and when they are sold the money is forwarded to the hospital or to the individual patient at the end of the month.

The disabled men have exhibited an unusual versatility in the articles produced for sale, according to Mrs. Edwards. "One boy makes little canoes and paints them in pretty colors," Mrs. Edwards stated. "In one month we have sold $75 worth of canoes ranging in price from 85 cents to $1.50. String belts, girdles and curtain pulls are very popular. A very good market has been developed for a veteran who makes hand-woven homespun. Jute rugs for piazzas and woven rugs for bathrooms are also favorites. All kinds of hammered jewelry and leather covers and cases are good sellers."

Mrs. Edwards' exchange has been authorized by the national convention of the American Legion auxiliary to sell articles made by veterans in hospitals of Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Delaware, Maryland, Pennsylvania and the District of Columbia.

HE IS VETERAN OF TWO WARS

Wisconsin Legion Man, Now National Vice Commander, Was in Spanish-American and World Wars.

Dr. Edward J. Barrett of Sheboygan, Wis., national vice commander of the American Legion, is a veteran of both the Spanish-American and World wars.

Born in Wooster, O., Doctor Barrett was graduated from the University of Wooster and later from the school of medicine at the University of Cincinnati. He served as house physician at the Palmer House in Chicago until the outbreak of the Spanish-American war, when he was commissioned a major in the Second regiment, United States volunteer engineers, remaining with that organization during its stay in Honolulu.

During the Philippine insurrection, Doctor Barrett was assistant surgeon of the Forty-first volunteer infantry, remaining in the islands until 1901. Thousands of wounded American doughboys remember the work of Doctor Barrett when he was in command of Fox Hills hospital at Stuten Island, and later when he was chief of hospitals at the port of embarkation at Hoboken, N. J., during the World war.

Doctor Barrett commanded the Legion post at Sheboygan in 1920 and served as commander of the Wisconsin department and national executive committee in 1921-1922, in addition to his work as a member of the Legion's national rehabilitation committee.

Case for an Expert.

Mr. Swivel was much perturbed to find that the three pounds of meat which he had purchased for dinner had mysteriously disappeared. His wife, aiding in the search and noting what she took to be a guilty look on the face of the family cat, pointed to it, and said:

"There's the meat."

"Why, no," objected Swivel, "that little thing couldn't get away with three pounds of meat. Still, let's weigh her and find out."

They did so. The scales registered an even three pounds.

"Yes," he admitted in puzzled tones, "there's the meat all right but where's the cat?"—American Legion Weekly.

LESSON FOR JANUARY 28

THE RICH MAN AND LAZARUS

LESSON TEXT—Luke 16:19-31. GOLDEN TEXT—Charge them that are rich in this world, that they be not high-minded, nor trust in uncertain riches, but in the living God, who giveth us richly all things to enjoy.—1 Tim. 6:17.

REFERENCE MATERIAL—Psalm 49:20, 11 Cor. 8:1-9; 1 Tim. 6:17-19.

PRIMARY TOPIC—Story of a Rich Man and a Beggar.

JUNIOR TOPIC—The Poor Rich Man and the Rich Poor Man.

INTERMEDIATE AND SENIOR TOPIC—Penalties of Selfishness.

YOUNG PEOPLE AND ADULT TOPIC—Right Use of Wealth.

In this lesson we are afforded a peep into two worlds where we see disclosed extremes of character and conditions. No more graphic picture could be drawn showing the contrast of two lives. These lives were intended to be representative. The rich man descended from the highest pinnacle of worldly enjoyment to the depths of endless misery. The poor beggar ascends from utter wretchedness and misery to the loftiest heights of blessing.

I. Contrasted Lives (vv. 19-21).

1. The Rich Man (v. 19). He lived in a mansion secluded from the common people. He was clothed in costly raiment; his outer garments were of purple and his inner garments of fine linen. He fed upon the richest food that could be provided. His sin was to selfishly indulge his appetites without consideration for others.

2. The Beggar (vv. 20, 21). He was laid at the rich man's gate with the hope of getting at least the crumbs from his table. The dogs of the street were more kind to him than the rich man. Lazarus means "God is a help," indicating that a godly life shows through his poverty. We learn from these contrasted lives that worldly condition is no sure test of a man's state in the sight of God. Rich men are not all wicked or selfish, and not all poor men are godly.

II. Contrasted Deaths and Funerals (v. 22).

1. The Beggar. He was found dead and his body hurried off to a pauper's grave. No notice was taken of it by the world.

2. The Rich Man. He also died. His gold could not bribe the messenger of death. Doubtless a costly funeral was held, attended by those who moved in his class of society. Death is the common end to which all classes must come.

III. Contrasted Destinies (v. 23).

1. The Beggar. He was at once carried by the angels into Abraham's bosom. The souls of believers are especially cared for at the hour of death.

2. The Rich Man. Though he had an elaborate funeral he lifted up his eyes in hell, being in torment. When the veil of futurity is lifted we see that the positions of these men are reversed. The poor man was in the company of just men made perfect, because of his godly life while on earth, and the rich man is stripped of his purple and fine linen and cast into hell with all wicked men, because while on earth he only lived for selfish ends.

IV. The Reality and Fixedness of Life Beyond the Grave (vv. 24-31).

1. The Cry for Mercy (v. 24). Dives, which is the Latin name for "rich man," was now willing to claim relationship to Abraham. He was keenly conscious, and the appetites which controlled him while on earth were still with him. Instead of a means of gratification they were now an instrument of torture. Part of the torment of hell will be the cravings of appetite and lust, with no means of their gratification.

2. Abraham's Reply (v. 25). This reply cast the matter back upon the man's memory. He said, "Son, remember. The lashings of a guilty conscience will be most real in hell."

3. Their Fixedness (v. 26). Human destinies are fixed by the choices during the life. When one passes out of this life he enters into an unchangeable state and condition.

4. God's Word and the All-Sufficient Light (vv. 27-31). Dives now requested that Lazarus go on an errand of mercy to his brethren. He regarded the testimony of a spirit of more value than the Word of God. Many today are more willing to trust the ravings of a ghost than the sure Word of God. Abraham declared that God's Word is sufficient—that those who reject Moses and the prophets would not repeat though visited by one who had risen from the dead. The greatest miracles will not affect the hearts of men who reject the Bible.

Development.

Development seems to be the method by which God works, and development is change—change which, by no means, involves imperfection; and this for the reason that laws, which obtain in the realm of the finite, may, or may not, obtain in the realm of the infinite.—Rt. Rev. N. S. Thomas, D. D.

We have often heard that politics make queer bedfellow and have seen some object lessons in this sage saying, but it remained for The Raftsmen's Journal to indicate that politics had anything to do with making bedbugs the bedfellows of all the bootleggers and other malefactors incarcerated at the county jail.

Brushing aside the allegations that the county jail reeks with filth and was overrun with vermin of all kinds The Journal makes the statement that the charges made against the administration of the county affairs, so far as the jail is concerned, are "political."

Referring again to "bugology," The Journal terms Reverend Hatch a "fly up the creek" and then slaps on the wrist the newspaper which dared to print Rev. Hatch's remarks. It ends its tirade by weeping over the terrible calamity to be visited on the Republican party by reason of the allegations and the publicity given them in belated editions of a Democratic newspaper.

Well, Brother McQuown, if the Republican party is not virtuous enough to stand a little criticism, let 'er topple. For our part, we have faith enough in it to let it be the target for all kinds of projectiles, and confidence in its being big enough to weather any storm. If the Republican party is so weak a structure that we have to hide its deficiencies, or the shortcomings of officers elected on that ticket, by suppressing news, we better do what Mr. Penrose did in 1912—ditch her and start to build over.

Enough of this. Rev. Hatch is a newcomer here. He didn't know whether we were Republicans, Democrats or Mug-rumps, though we'll admit it looks now as though we were a bunch of Know-Nothings in a literal sense.

Let the Grand Jury investigation be most thorough and, if the Republican party suffers through having put in office men who were not fitted to hold office, the quicker the Republican party finds it out the better off it will be.

We are gratified to see so much interest taken by the workers of the Tuberculosis Society of Clearfield County. When we realize that all of those who attended the annual meeting of the society yesterday did so out of a desire to serve their fellow men in such a manner that they might not suffer from the dreaded white plague, we must further realize that there is a considerable amount of brotherly love. All of these people gave of their time yesterday in order to advance this work, not only did they give of their time yesterday, but the greater number of them having been giving freely of their time throughout the whole year.

These people are the ones who administer the little fund that is raised in the county each year by the sale of the Christmas Seals and their interest in the work and our knowledge of the sacrifices they make to carry on the work, ought to result in an even greater sale of these wonderful little seals when the next opportunity presents itself. It is too early now to think about that time but let us try to remember about yesterday's outpouring of workers when next December rolls around.

Clearfield High took another game last night and have an even chance of staying on top of the heap. Not many people were willing to make a wager yesterday that the boys would bring home a victory, but this afternoon they will get off the B. R. & P. train wreathed in great big smiles. Let us smile with them, for they sure are keeping Clearfield on the map, these high school boys, and let us resolve now to cheer them to victory in the league games this season. These boys have the right stuff in them and deserve our support.

It is an utterly low view of business which regards it as only a means of getting a living. A man's business is his part of the world's work, his share of the great activities which render society possible. He may like it or dislike it, but it is work, and as such, requires application, self-discipline, and skill. He must make his mark.

The Sturdy Six of Long Life

Why the Jewett Is a Good Investment

Some folks think only of looks when they buy a car. Thousands have bought this Jewett on looks alone. But there are things to know about the Jewett which will make you prefer it to all others. Ever notice how comfortably the Jewett rides? You are surprised at such easy action in this size car. It comes from extra long springs and the extra weight of rugged construction. If you are wise you can't be fooled on rugged construction. You can feel it—or the lack of it—by the way a car rides. The trembling, bouncy car is flimsy. The steady, comfortable car is substantial. Do we need to tell you which car is a good investment? You can feel the Jewett's long life in the way it rides. Will its power endure—remain smooth and quiet? A very important question. A short-lived motor makes any car a poor investment. How can you tell whether a motor will keep its power and smoothness? You don't need to be an engineer. With your ear and just one simple fact you can tell the answer.

Speed up the motor. Listen! Is it quiet? A noisy motor is poorly designed for long wear. And the one fact you need to make sure of is a high-pressure oiling system.

Jewett's high-pressure oiling system sends three gallons of oil per minute through all main and connecting rod bearings at 20 to 40 pounds pressure. It constantly bathes the entire mechanism in oil. Friction is reduced to nil. No chance for such a motor to wear out for years. Yes, you can prove the Jewett is a good investment.

Crisis Near In Church As Climax To Dr. Grant's Stormy Ministry

BY ALEXANDER HERMAN

NEA Service Staff Writer

NEW YORK, Jan. 27.—What is ahead in religion?

A militant ministry patterned after the spectacular and revolutionary leadership of Dr.

Percy Stickney Grant?

Or must this meteor among preachers stand trial for heresy for his declaration that

Christ did not have the power of God?

These questions grow exor-cursively in interest as the religious world awaits to see whether Dr. Grant recants, resigns or is tried according to his Episcopal bishop's ultimatum.

Dr. Grant has held the center of the spotlight through a tempestuous career—fighting church doctrines, and fighting a personal fight to marry Mrs.

Rita H. deAlba deAcosta Lydig, twice married and twice divorced. He is noted for radical sermons; and he is the author of poems and essays, of such books as "Socialism and

Christianity," and "Fair Play for the Worker."

His notable book of poems,

"A Fifth Avenue Parade and

Other Poems," published last year by Harper & Bros., had this dedication: "To Rita H.

deAlba deAcosta, an ambitious and stimulating intelligence gifted with a knowledge of the beautiful, a Tanagra figure come to life, a captivating companion."

The sequel to these chapters of his life remain to be written.

CHAPTER I

PERCY STICKNEY GRANT

was 26 years old when he graduated in 1886 from the Episcopal Theological School in Boston, his home. Assigned to Fall River his ideas about the church were somewhat different from those of the vestry. But his social service work attracted attention

DR. GRANT ON LIBERALISM

Following is an excerpt from Dr. Percy Stickney Grant's poem, "The Radical," from his book, "A Fifth Avenue Parade and Other Poems," published last year by Harper & Bros.

I stand for the man
Who is sick of this piffle
About God
From ministers and millionaires,
Who seem to own God,
He treats them so well.
I feel better for the blows I receive
As the friend of undesirable citizens.
My revolt is a little of the revolt in them.
My insults are a part of the blows they receive.
If I do not explode
With as much love and hate as they do,
I can at least suffer a little on their account.

CHAPTER IV

TALK came of putting him on trial in an ecclesiastical court for celebrating communion improperly, for permitting laymen to speak at religious services, and for performing the marriage of a guilty divorcee. But the case was dropped—with a rebuke and a warning for Dr. Grant. Now came the time when he was to fight a personal fight—and lose.

CHAPTER V

MRS. RITA H. deALBA deACOSTA LYDIG, called "America's most picturesque woman," long a friend of Dr. Grant, announced her engagement to him in 1921. She was 42, he was 61. She had been twice married and twice divorced; first W. E. D. Stokes, next Philip M. Lydig.

Under Episcopal Church rules Dr. Grant could not marry Mrs. Lydig without the bishop's permission. Bishop William T. Manning refused permission.

Incensed, Dr. Grant attacked the church's attitude on household, established a nursing, hired a nurse, and announced he would raise the divorce canon.

CHAPTER VI

PUBLICITY spotlighted now was Mrs. Lydig. Soon the baby became ill. She cried at night. A baby girl was found on his doorstep, abandoned. He took it into his bachelor

DR. GRANT ON LOVE

Dr. Percy Stickney Grant's poem "The Lover," which follows, is from his book "A Fifth Avenue Parade and Other Poems," published last year by Harper & Bros.

THE LOVER

I love her body and her soul,
But I must choose.
Alas! her heart, it is kind,
So sweet her body, pure her mind,
I would not lose
A petal of the perfect whole.

Her gentle spirit wounds her flesh,
She feeleth woe
So keenly. Sorrow, pain and sin
Gaze at her all bright within
And grieve her so.
Tears mar the body's golden mesh.

Her face is fair as temple gates,
I linger there
And look and love, then reverently
Pass in, the fairer soul to see;
Nor may compare
The door to what within awaits.

For there are angel choirs heard
And heaven's appeal.
There jeweled windows, mystic light,
Reveal their beauty and the light;
So there I kneel
Me down and—worship—is the word.

CHAPTER VII

WITH 1923 came the explosion. Dr. Grant said, in a sermon January 14th that Jesus Christ did not possess equal power with God; that His miracles can be explained today by science; that consecration of churches is a custom inherited from the age of witchcraft, magic and taboo; that the clergy is a suppressed, chained profession, whose minds must speak their minds outside the pulpit, never in it.

Bishop Manning served an ultimatum that he must recant or resign, and hinting at a trial for heresy. Dr. Grant has neither resigned nor recanted.

CHAPTER VII

SORROW stilled Dr. Grant's pulpit voice for a time. Soon he renewed his fight against the church's stand on marriage and divorce.

He said: "If marriage is founded on the affection of two persons for each other, as marriage in America is supposed to be, with the disappearance of such sentiment disappears the only ground for the marriage."

He had been advocating easy divorce since 1915.

FRANKLIN HAS RECORD
NUMBER OF UNFILLED
ORDERS FOR JANUARY
Selling Orders 45% of Total—New Body Styles and New Motor Boost Sales

Syracuse, N. Y.—The number of unfilled retail orders on the books of the Franklin Automobile Company on January 17 was eight times the number recorded on the corresponding date in 1922, according to S. E. Ackerman, Sales Manager. "Never before at this time of year," states Mr. Ackerman, "have we had so many unfilled customers' orders. This unprecedented demand is, we feel, recognition on the part of the public of the exceptional performance qualities of the new Franklin motor introduced in September last. The new Franklin body styles, first exhibited at the New York show, have been largely instrumental, too, in stimulating Franklin sales to their present high mark.

"Although the call for cars is spread over all the seven types we are now building, the demand for sedans overshadows all other types. 45% of our unfilled orders specify sedans."

WILLIAM COURTENAY IN "HER TEMPORARY HUSBAND"

William Courtenay in "Her Temporary Husband," a three-act farce comedy, will be the attraction at the Driggs Theatre on Wednesday evening, Jan. 31st. Edward A. Paulton is the author of this farce and H. H. Lydig.

liked this laughing play and it recently finished a stay of several months at the Frazee Theatre in New York. In Mr. Courtenay's support are a number of well known players, including George Parsons, Virginia Hammond, Henry Mortimer, Jack Paulton and Betty Linley. "Her Temporary Husband" was built for laugh-making purposes and it fulfills its destiny admirably. The story is woven around a young heiress whose father left his fortune to her, provided she did not marry a suitor whom the father disliked. The girl wanted to marry the man her father forbade her to wed and the suitor wanted to marry her provided her fortune came with her. The fathers' will was the only hindrance.

Some way had to be found to get both the girl and her money and the suitor conceived the idea of finding a temporary husband for the heiress, a husband old and ailing, who would soon pass away leaving a wealthy widow for the money-seeking suitor to marry. The heiress agreed to the plan and they found the sort of a temporary husband desired, in a sanitarium.

Thither the pair were followed by an unknown admirer of the girl, who, on learning of the plan to acquire a temporary husband, wheedled the doctor in charge of the sanitarium and his friendly staff into allowing him to impersonate the old man who had been picked as a bridegroom. The marriage took place and, much to the surprise of the pair who planned it, the supposed senile bridegroom showed surprising vitality. How this old-young man won the love of his wife and routed the selfish suitor makes good, clean fun.

Promoter O'Leary promises high-class cards at both shows, which will prove welcome news to local fans.

PREPARE FOR SKATING

After many hopes, fears and disappointments, it begins to look as if there would really be a skating rink—that is, if the party of the second part live up to their share of the plan as well as the first. About four o'clock Friday afternoon the loiterers on the Market street bridge saw what at first looked like a wild mob, but on inspection it turned out to be a disciplined squad cleaning a good slice of the ice. Minus the heavy lookers-on, about sixty boys from both High Schools under the generalship of Mr. Kopp and a small corps of professors did the work. Something new in snow plows was in operation, made in the afternoon at the Graham mill is just the everyday thing to expect of the combined plans of the interested ones. About twenty boys, more or less, rode the contrivance, holding it down to the wet snow which had been too well tramped into the ice, while the rest of the army tugged on the long ropes hitched to each side. It was the real kind of hard work, so when all the pep then present was pretty well used up, all were marshaled into the domestic science kitchen where four G. U. Scouts had answered the hurry call and prepared coffee and hot-dogs. This prompt and capable quartet, Pauline Fleck, Donna Mitchell, Edith Shaw and Charlotte Zurfoss, were gathered up at the last minute and given the training stunt to accomplish because that is just the everyday thing to expect of the combined plans of the interest-

Pig's Eye, to Restore Boy's Sight

ODDS AND ENDS AND THINGS

By J. D. C.

Now that the movement is started looking to the restoration of the Pennsylvania road as a State road it might not be out of place to look back to the opening of this road away back thirty years ago and compare road building prices then with those of the present time. A. B. Reed, in going over an old ledger the property of his father the late G. L. Reed found an entry which covered the building of the first mile of the present Pennsylvania road, which was built up Moose Creek to connect with the old Sinnemahoning road at the top of the mountain.

The entry noted an agreement with Charles McCumber "to make a mile of road to Sinnemahoning at $162.15 per rod." McCumber, the road builder, then lived where A. M. Woodward's bungalow stands near the old Len Oxden place.

This contract was let in 1887 and the book shows donations to the cause under dates of Jan. 20 to Oct. 9 of that year of $75 by G. L. Reed and A. K. Wright contributed $35 during the same period. During April, July and September of 1886 G. L. Reed contributed $35; A. K. Wright, $40; Jonathan Boynton, $10 and Reed and Weaver, account, $164.11.

Production of automobiles totaled 2,577,220 vehicles during 1922, according to reports just tabulated by the Department of Commerce. This is the largest output of any year in history, the official returns show.

Production of passenger cars was 2,334,171 vehicles. The output of trucks was 243,049.

Output during 1923 will be larger than in the previous year, it is predicted.

The number of automobiles now in operation in the United States is well over 11,000,000 cars, it is indicated, although official and final license reports will not be available for several weeks. A year ago approximately 10,000,000 cars were licensed. The number licensed does not increase in proportion equal to new production. Many cars manufactured and sold during 1922 were licensed to replace cars junked during the year, it is apparent.

The production record of the year shows that the automobile industry stands in the front rank, if not first, among those lines of endeavor which recover quickly from economic depression.

The industry was at low ebb in January when production totaled only 31,693 passenger cars and 9,416 trucks. Output rose rapidly each month thereafter until June, when the peak was reached. In that month the factories turned out 263,027 passenger cars and 2,984 trucks.

The strike of railroad shop workers and the final stages of the miners' strike seem to have forced lowered production in July beyond the normal season decline. This is indicated by the fact that more cars were turned out in August than during July. July production was 224,770 passenger cars and 21,739 trucks, while that of August was 248,118 passenger vehicles and 24,420 trucks.

Human nature sure is a queer bird as all will agree who have taken time to study the fads, foibles or fancies of the genus homo.

It has long been truly said "to them that hath shall be given" and while that is true beyond dispute, after a little experience of ours yesterday we want to add that "them that hath" hangs onto it like grim death to a dead nigger—that being largely the reason why they "hath."

We are moved to deliver ourselves thusly following a little observation of personal survey we made yesterday. This is the how of it. A crippled beggar took his place in front of Ross & Wood's Market street store yesterday morning and sitting on the sidewalk offered lead pencils in exchange for the nickels and dimes of the charitably inclined passers by. Being of a curious turn of mind we sat in our office window for a time and took note of those who responded to the cripple's mute appeal, and to the everlasting credit of the horny-handed son of toil, the men in blouses or proletariat if you will, he or they did the contributing. Hardly a poor devil who passed that way could resist the appeal, almost every last one digging down into his jeans or overalls and dropping his contribution into the cap of the beggar. The women, too, God bless 'em were also nearly all tender-hearted enough to contribute, in fact the percentage of charitable women far exceeding that of the sterner—and tighter—sex. But the one thing that was surprising and which gave rise to our opening statements was the general refusal of the more prosperous or "white collared" individual paid any heed to the down and outer as they passed him by with head in air and their nicks safely anchored beyond the reach of any heart throb.

It was interesting to watch how he felt of the cripple struck the approaching pedestrian. When the poor man sighted him he began to search his pockets and had his coin in hand yards before he reached the waiting cap. One fellow in overalls searched every pocket as he approached but finding nothing sneaked sheepishly by still searching. He started to cross the street at the alley and was midway across when he found what he was searching for in a hip pocket and retracing his steps, dropped a coin into the cap and again resumed his way with a look of satisfaction on his face.

Truly "them that has gets," and after they "git" they hang to it.

If Kidneys Act Bad Take Salts

Says Backache often means you have been eating too much meat.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it may mean you have been eating too much meat, says a well known authority. An excess of meat may form uric acid, which overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood, and they become sort of paralyzed and foggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog, you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels removing all the body's urinous waste else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells, your stomach sour, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water scald, and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Little consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist along four ounces of Jial Salts take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with Lithium and has been used for generations to clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the urine so it is no longer irritating, thus often curing bladder weakness.

Jial Salts is inexpensive can not hurt and makes a delightful effervescent drink. Water drunk. Drink lots of soft water.

WORTHLESS CHECK
GETS HIM IN TROUBLE

Sandford Lewis was arrested Tuesday afternoon on the charge of having given Gulbranson, of Houtzdale a check in December, which proved to be worthless. The amount was $500. At the hearing it was alleged that Lewis had been urged several times to make the check good, but he stood them off on the plea that he was to sell his property here, and pay all his bills. An investigation revealed the fact that the Sheriff was selling the property to satisfy a mortgage, and the suit was entered for protection. Lewis was held on a thousand dollar bail for his appearance at Court. Wm. Bowser furnished the bond.—Phillipsburg Ledger.

Varnishing With VALSPAR Will Help

We have found that an occasional coat of VALSPAR, the varnish that's absolutely water-proof and accident-proof, prolongs the life and beauty of Gold Seal Art-Rugs. VALSPAR helps to preserve the pattern and takes a great deal of the surface wear. The desirable patterns are very scarce. Now we have a good assortment.

NEW LAMP BURNS 94 PER CENT AIR

Beats Electric or Gas

A new oil lamp that gives an amazingly brilliant, soft, white light, even better than gas, or electricity, has been tested by the U. S. Government and 75 leading universities and found to be superior to 10 ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise—no pumping up, is simple, clean, safe. Burns 94 per cent. air and 6 per cent. common kerosene (coal oil). The inventor, S. K. Johnson, 642 N. Broad St., Philadelphia, is offering to send a lamp on 10 days' FREE trial or even to give one FREE to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for full particulars. Also ask him to explain how you can get the agency, and without experience or money make $250 to $500 per month.

Drapery to the Front

Fashionable gowns now have their fulness caught in front below the waist with a colorful ornament. The fulness held in this fashion falls in the pleats and ripples of the new jabot drapery. Side drapes are still very popular but spring will see the front drapes well established in American fashions.

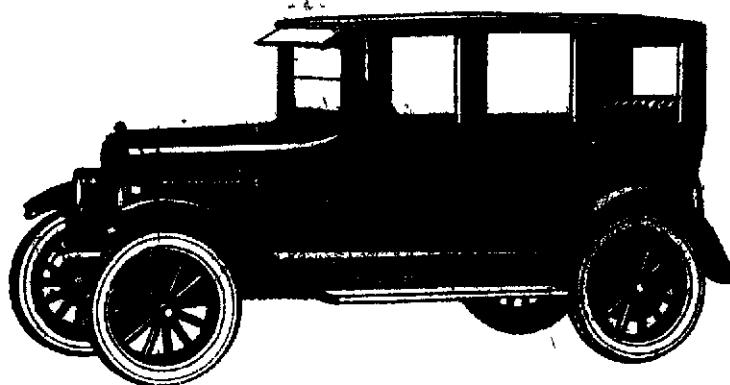

William, Philip and Richard Roesser who have been quarantined with scarlet fever since Dec. 20th are released from quarantine.

You may use this letter to help other sick mothers." — Mrs. C. A. Moede, Box 634, Windom, Minn.

My First Child
Glen Allen, Alabama.—"I have been greatly benefited by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for bearing-down feelings and pains. A neighbor recommended the Vegetable Compound to me after I had taken doctor's medicines without much benefit. It has relieved my pains and gives me strength. I recommend it and give you permission to use my testimonial letter." — Mrs. L. A. Ryk, Glen Allen, Alabama.
